and what have you

by BOB CRAIG

The Hamlin Little League opened their season Tuesday night in their newly lighted ballpark. The men responsible for this fine improvement are to be commended. The old lighting system was inadequate and dangerous and if the league was to continue to operate it was necessary that the new lights be installed.

The big problem now is how to pay for them. Not only did the league have the expense of the new lights but they also had to replace the uniforms this year. Sponsors have been found to cover the expenses of the uniforms. With this and if the same amount of money is raised this year as was raised last year the group will still be short about $2,500.

I am sure the merchants of Hamlin will be glad to help the boys as they have in the past. But since this program is for the youth it seems to me that the parents involved must carry the bulk of the load. Too many times the parents who are able to pay don't contribute enough to pay the insurance on their own boys playing.

No one minds helping out those who are unable to help themselves but I don't understand why people should expect someone else to pay their children's way.

You can nearly always tell when the people feel that the government has gone completely against their wishes by reading the letters to the editor columns in the daily papers. And not finding a swarm of letters in the daily papers in protest against the house passed sales tax it would seem to me that Governor Price Daniel is waging a one man battle against the tax.

The governor claims that business will not pay their share of the tax load, that it is unfair to the people and that it will not supply enough money. The tax committee appointed by the governor and state comptroller both say that the tax bills passed by the house will take care of the needs of the state without other taxes being needed. Most sources report that business will pay a third of the sales tax which with their other taxes will be their fair share.

I get a little irritated with the governor and his underhanded methods of fighting the tax such as talking about the food and soft drinks being taxed under the sales tax plan and beer and liquor not being taxed. He tries to give the impression that these are escaping taxation while actually they will remain under the heavy taxation that they have been under for years.

The Texas Motel Association has given a plan to the Legislature which seems to have a great deal of merit to it. It would take 10 percent of the three percent now being collected by the hotels and motels and put this money in the fund to advertise Texas. This would give the state about a million dollars for this project and the money would be coming from a source that would grow as the vacationers increase.

Former Hamlinite Involved in Wreck

Carolyn Barnett of Amarillo, formerly of Hamlin, was involved in an auto accident near Roswell, New Mexico Monday night.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Barnett, who went to Roswell, have reported that she only received minor injuries although her car was believed to be a total loss.

Carolyn and two other girls were returning to Amarillo from a weekend trip into Mexico when the accident occurred. Miss Barnett had pulled off of the highway and was stopped when a car struck them from behind.

A former employee of Southern Bell Telephone Company here, Carolyn transferred to the Amarillo office in July of last year.

FORMER HAMLIN BOY NAMED TO BOYS RANCH JUNIOR STAFF

Roy Boiles, a former Hamlin boy and one of the 261 boys from all over the nation who are making their home at Cal Farley's nationally-famous Boys Ranch near Amarillo, was recently named a potential member of the Ranch's Junior Staff, the highest honor a Boys Rancher may receive.

The Junior Staff is a small group of older boys who have been selected for positions of responsibility and authority because of their leadership ability, citizenship and achievement. Roy was considered for membership because of his assistance to his dorm parents and the smaller boys of the Ranch with whom he lives in his "family" of 36 boys.

The former Hamlin boy is one of the all-around athletes at the Ranch and was named the Outstanding Wrestler last year. He is also the Ranch's All-Around Junior Cowboy, a title he won in the 1960 Boys Ranch Rodeo.

Roy is 15 years old and a 9th grade student in the fully-accredited Boys Ranch School. As part of his education, he is learning a trade in auto mechanics from the vocational training program at the Ranch. Twelve trades are included in the program and many of the more than 1,200 boys who have lived at the Ranch are now earning their own way with the skills they have acquired from the program.

Boys Ranch was founded by Cal Farley 22 years ago to provide a home for homeless and delinquent boys. Located 36 miles northwest of Amarillo, the Ranch's only support comes from voluntary contributions.

"Roy is a fine young man and we are proud of the progress he has made since he has been with us," Farley said. "Like so many boys today all he needed was a shirttail to hang to and we would like to help all of them. Roy is becoming a citizen the people of Texas and Hamlin can be proud of."

FROM THE FILES...

25 Years Ago-

The folks in the Ruban Ray home, near Wise Chapel, can realize what it means for hot lightning to strike a house.

Last Friday night, during the electrical storm, they were listening and peering out in the uproar -- Bang! and a blinding deafening roar crashed through the house on a wall, onto a bedstead, through a mattress, through the floor to the ground. Nails were "backed out" and fire caught in the mattress. No one was hurt, except scared.

Mrs. G. W. Joiner honored her grandson, Frank Joiner Jr., with a birthday party at her home. Those attending were Frances Laverne Shelburne, Billy Raymond Armstrong, Nolan Haines, Hollen Scott, Edward Martin, Joan Culbertson, Dorine Carlton, Paul Fowler Jr. and Phyllis Wells.

Mrs. W. R. Calhoun, Mrs. Tate May, Mrs. Dick Moore and Mrs. Ted Armstrong were hostesses for a May breakfast honoring members of the Woman's Literary Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Bond are entertaining a new daughter in their home, Rose Diane, who was born April 24 at the Rotan Hospital. The young lady, grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Jenkins and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Bond, tipped the scales at nine pounds seven ounces.

Cecil Sellers represented Hamlin Junior Chamber of Commerce at the state convention of Jaycees held at San Angelo. F. B. Moore donated a full block for the site of the new Hamlin Hospital. Neinda and Hamlin Schools consolidated. Hamlin cafes were being a little more liberal with their sugar rationing to patrons this week as a 10% increase in allotments to hotels and restaurants for May and June were announced. Nearly two inches of much needed rain fell on the Hamlin area this week and brightened crop prospects.

A new enterprise for Hamlin is the Lee Drive-Inn which has been opened on West Lake Drive. O. R. Lee, local electrician, has installed the new services for Hamlin residents and flourishing business greeted his opening. Sugar Green, stellar Hamlin High School athlete, has completed arrangements to enter Texas University. It is evident that the monthly Dollar Day as planned by the C of C is not to become a reality. Sufficient cooperation from merchants of Hamlin could not be obtained to properly publicize the trade stimulant. Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Martin are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Frances, to R. L. Kirk, son of Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Kirk of Midland. The local fire department honored L. R. Witt, as a retiring member of the city council with a barbecue supper at the Tom Vaughan cabin at Moore Lake. Practically the entire department was present, accompanied by their wives. Barbecue and trimming was prepared by Vaughan and Sol Branscum.

A girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Conner on April 27. After weighing in at eight pounds she accepted the name of Martha Ann. Repairs and expansions at the North Central Baptist Church are continuing, reports Rev. Woodrow McHugh, pastor. Hamlin community will have the benefit of tornado warnings through a set-up perfected by the Fire Department. A campaign to raise an estimated $3,500 to pay off indebtedness and do some needed repairs at the Hamlin swimming pool before its proposed reopening on June 1 has been outlined by members of the board of directors. "Lady, you can save enough on your food bill to pay for it," declared the salesman as he tried to sell a refrigerator. "We are paying for a car on the taxi fare we save, we are paying for a washing machine on the laundry bill we save. It looks like we just can't afford to save money at the present time," she explained. Mrs. Fred B. Smith, principal of the Hamlin Primary School was one of nine West Texas Parent-Teacher Association members receiving lifetime memberships at the first annual conference of the newly organized 18th District of Texas.

"TAKE A LITTLE OFF THE TOP."

AUSTIN, TEX. — Capitol funds are engaged in a legal and dead-serious type of "numbers game."

Object is to figure out how much money certain tax bills will bring in. Also what the legislature needs to round up in order to meet state's obligations. Then, find out how much additional cash is necessary to foot all bills. Any number of persons can play this game—and a good many are. Looks like all Texans will be affected.

Gov. Price Daniel, who takes a dim view of the House-passed 2 per cent sales tax, said it still would leave the state $50,000,000 short of needed revenue. Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity, sponsor of the sales tax, offered it as a means of raising $127,000,000 a year. Texas Research League, which has made a continuing study of state finances, estimated Wilson's bill would raise $265,000,000 in the next two years, with $22,000,000 more coming in late because of a two-month collection lag. This would take care of the general appropriations bill as passed by the Senate, says the League, leaving some $106,000,000 to pay for teacher raises and medical care for persons on state welfare rolls.

Wilson has also put forward another tax bill that would repeal the corporation franchise tax and substitute a 4 1/2 per cent corporation income tax for a net gain of $50,000,000 a year in state revenue.

Governor Daniel has proposed a new eight-point compromise plan designated to add $73,316,000 to the general revenue fund over a two-year period.

His plan calls for (1) passage of the twice-defeated escheat bill, (2) doubling tuition at state colleges, (3) shifting the $15,000,000 farm-to-market road spending from the general fund, (4) requiring county school superintendent expenses to be paid from local funds, (5) collecting $3,000,000 from families able to pay for care of relatives in state hospitals and schools, (6) diverting one per cent ($12,000,000) a year from the permanent school fund for current expenses and (7) revising or shifting several other school fund allocations. House Passes Budget Bill -- House passed a general appropriations bill calling for the spending of $2,520,000,000 during the next two years.

House bill is about $20,000,000 higher than the appropriations bill passed by the Senate in late March. It is about $130,000,000 more than is provided for present two-year period. One of the biggest increases would be for education, which would be boosted by $26,000,000 a year under the House bill. Other provisions by the House would allow: $15 per month raises for state employees making less than $200 a month; 40-hour work weeks for employees of state hospitals and special schools; raises for State Liquor Control Board inspectors.

"University" Battles -- "University" has become a "fighting word" in the Senate, one that held up regular business for almost two weeks. A determined group of Senators has opposed creating any more state-supported universities on grounds it will put Texas in the position of the "old woman who lived in the shoe." Nevertheless, Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells obtained final passage of a bill that would change the name of North Texas State College to North Texas State University. Opponents scoffed at the prospect of having two Universities in Denton (Pop. 27,000). Other is Texas Woman's State College for Women.

Sen. Robert Baker of Houston had more difficulty with his bill that would admit the University of Houston to the state college system. Senators Hubert Hudson, Wardlow Lane, Charles Herring and W. T. Moore teamed up to "talk the bill to death."

Car Tax End Sought -- City and County property taxes on automobiles and trucks would be abolished under a proposed constitutional amendment passed 102-to-35 by the House.

School district property taxes on vehicles would be retained.

Auto property taxes have been a source of considerable dissatisfaction since some cities and counties collect them and others don't bother. Rep. Murray Watson of Mart, sponsor of the plan, said he would urge that the Legislature also adopt a law requiring car owners to show a receipt for payment of school taxes as a requirement for getting license plates. Watson's proposed amendment also would authorize the Legislature to increase vehicle registration fees by one-third to create a fund for improving county roads and city streets.

If passed by both houses of the Legislature, the amendment would have to be voted on by the people.

Garnished Approved -- Another proposed constitutional amendment approved by the House would allow courts to garnish (take over) 50 per cent of a father's salary for child support payments.

Rep. Ben Jarvis of Tyler, sponsor, said the measure would result in a lightened load for the State Welfare Department. Frequently, said supporters, fathers ignore court orders to pay child support, causing the children to become a public welfare problem.

Opponents called the measure too severe.

Election Code Is Target -- Changes in future balloting and candidate filing procedures continue to be a prime legislative topic.

A bill introduced by Senators George Parkhouse of Dallas and Robert Baker of Houston would raise substantially the filing fees for legislative candidates in Dallas and Harris counties. A senatorial candidate would have to pay $1,000 and a House candidate, $500, compared to the present $100 for each.

Another bill by Senator Parkhouse would limit each political party to one poll watcher by a resident of the precinct in which he keeps his vigil.

A bill that would allow voters to check the candidate they favored rather than scratching all others has been approved by House committee and sent to the floor. Committee also approved a bill that would require that the boxes containing ballot stubs be turned in after the election with unbroken seals.

Water Storage Rights Urged -- Gov. Price Daniel has written President Kennedy urging his support for a pending congressional bill that would spell out the right of a public agency (such as the state) to buy permanent water storage space in reservoirs constructed by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Daniel pointed out that the present Legislature already has approved a constitutional amendment that would authorize use of state funds to buy such water storage.

Clarifying legislation from the federal end, said the governor, would clear the way for "federal state partnership in the vital field of water resources."

Higher Barber Licenses -- House passed on second reading a bill that would double the license fee for barbers. Present charge is $10 for examination, $5 for license renewal.

Extra money would be used to hire more state inspectors, upgrade barber college standards, said Rep. Ben Jarvis of Tyler, sponsor. He said barbers favored it.

Jarvis' bill also would eliminate very small barber colleges by setting a 20-chair limit for schools.

SHORT SNORTS Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry's last-ditch effort toward legalizing horse racing and parimutuel betting was killed by the House. It sent back to committee a proposal for a state-wide referendum on racing.

Fines of from $25 to $200 could be levied on policemen who trap speedsters by waiting in a hidden spot under a bill proposed by Rep. Collier Adams of Lubbock.

NEINDA PHILOSOPHER ADVISES BIG CITIES THAT PROBLEMS WON'T END WHEN THEY GET NEW DEPARTMENT

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route 1 lets international problems slide this week and discusses city affairs.

Dear editor:

According to a news article I found squeezed in between news about all the whooping and hollering and threatening to shoot now going on in the world, President Kennedy, in between international crisis, has asked Congress to create a new department of the government to be known as the Department of Urban Affairs, with cabinet rank.

Its purpose is to help cities deal with their growing problems, it was announced, sort of like the Department of Agriculture has been helping us farmers for years.

As I understand it, big cities are all in favor of this new Department, but I would like to give them just one word of advice, with the understanding of course that when somebody offers one word of advice it's usually a lot of words.

Now it's true that cities have a lot of problems and they're growing more numerous and probably worse all the time and certainly something ought to be done about it and if Abilene and New York can't handle their problems, for them to turn to Washington.

But here's what I was thinking: these big cities shouldn't get their hopes up too high. I mean, after they get a Department of Urban Affairs set up and going strong, they shouldn't give a sigh of relief and figure they've got smooth sailing.

The Department of Agriculture has been working on us farmers' problems for years and so far we've managed to stay at least fifteen problems ahead. I don't know where we would have been without the Department of Agriculture, no doubt in much worse shape except for one or two periods in there, but as a man from a group with some experience with a special Department in Washington, I'd like to suggest to the big cities that the problems won't go away as soon as their Urban Department is created. It may be years before their Department can solve their problems. Say two million.

Yours faithfully
J. A.

There are thirty days left in this regular session, and we are considerably ahead of where we were two years ago. It is my opinion that Legislature will finish in the 140 days, and it will not be necessary to have a special session, unless the Governor just calls us back for one of his pet projects.

Last week the Legislature passed the sales tax, and this week the major thing was the passage of the two billion, seven hundred million dollar Appropriation Bill. I voted against the Appropriation Bill because it was a considerable increase for college teachers and professors and did not increase the school teachers' pay. I do not feel that this is right and just since they were given a raise two years ago and are receiving another raise now, and the school teachers have not had any salary increase at all.

Friday, April 28 has been set for another tax bill, which is a corporate income tax. People have a misconception of corporations paying taxes. People pay taxes, and the stock holders of corporations would be paying any corporate income tax levied. Of course, some corporations should be paying some of the tax burden.

The Senate has had a mild filibuster this week on the University of Houston bill, which I voted against. I did not feel that I could vote to spend ten million dollars a year for the University of Houston when the University of Houston is voted twenty million dollars a year in taxes to have a covered air-conditioned baseball park built. They should support it and not ask the tax bill of the State to give them financial help. If this is the trend, they will be down here in three or four years asking the State to take over their air-conditioned stadium.

I have announced for candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives for the 58th Legislature and have notified each member that I would like to have their pledge. The people of our District can give a lot of help, and it would be an honor for the District to have a Speaker, as this is the third most powerful position in the State.

At the rate we are going, it looks like the Legislature will get through on time and therefore save a lot of anxiety among the people who pay the bill, and this is our hope and desire.

A FOOT DIFFERENCE: Lincoln was our tallest President, 6-4½; Madison, the shortest, with 5-4½ to his credit.

Texans are rightfully fearful of snakes, but the fact of the matter is more Texans have been dying over the years from the effects of insect bites than have died from snake bites.

During the five-year period from 1956 to 1960, snake bites claimed 13 Texas lives during the same period insects resulted in the deaths of 30 persons.

Last year, 1960, there were 18 total snake and insect-bite deaths in Texas, the largest number since 1944, when there were 23 such deaths.

An interesting coincidence can be found by examining rainfall averages for various years, and then relating them to the number of snake and insect bite deaths.

For instance, 1956 had no deaths from such bites—this was the peak of the recent drought. The following year, there was a jump to nine insect-bite deaths and one snake-bite death.

Every Texan recalls the spring rains and floods that year. Rainfall has remained fairly average over the past four years providing an increase in undergrowth, shrubs and other insect and snake-harboring conditions.

Early warm springs also add to the number of snakes and insects active in the summer and fall.

In a recent national study involving a five-year period, it was found bees, wasps, hornets and yellow jackets killed 86 persons compared with 71 from snake bites and 39 from spiders.

Bees alone took 52 lives when victims were allergic to their poisons.

Best defense against insect and snake bites is to be watchful. Tramping through woods and thick undergrowth can be asking for trouble.

Around the home, look carefully in tall bushes and vines before trimming to make sure there are no nests.

When exposed to snake-bitten areas, carry a snake-bite kit. If bitten, be still to keep circulation at a minimum rate while applying snake-bite procedures or waiting for help.

The victim should seek medical aid from a physician

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

IT'S TIME TO 'MOVE' YOURSELF

Dear Amy: My husband works in a large city about 60 miles from where home is. He doesn't commute work daily but comes home for the week-ends. By accident, I came across a letter from a girl (who lives in the city) addressed to him at his rooming house. The letter sounded as though they knew each other pretty well. When I questioned him, he explained that she was a friend and there was nothing between them. As far as he was concerned, the incident was closed, but I called the girl. I didn't know who I was and I have heard a story she told was much more intimate than my husband's version.

No Name Please
Dear Amy: I am a girl of 19 and my future husband is 22. We have planned a wedding in the late summer or early fall but my problem is about the reception. My fiancé and I are of different faiths and I plan on marrying him in his church and having a reception with dancing and drinking in keeping with the custom of his religion. My relatives are very much against all these things. They would feel very uncomfortable witnessing the festivities but they do expect to be invited to the wedding. I have always loved to dance and so I have my mind set that that's the way the wedding should be.

Kathy
Dear Amy: A majority of girls in your school are discriminating against a strange boy in a movie anywhere else for that matter. I allow myself to be bullied. There are legitimate reasons to meet boys and this isn't of them!

Kathy
Dear Amy: My husband's boss and wife invited my husband and me to their home for dinner. They are shrimp eaters (I know), but my religion forbids eating shrimp. What shall I do if they serve this type seafood? Our actions that night might determine my husband's chance for advancement and a raise. If I refuse the shrimp, they might be insulted. If I force myself to eat it (I've never tasted it before), I don't know how to handle it or what to do with it. What would you do under the circumstances? Eat it or leave it?

Mrs. E. G.
Dear Mrs. E. G.: Don't you think you are worrying foolishly over an 'incident' that is not likely to occur? However, should they serve shrimp, don't eat it. The 'boss' would respect and admire you more for your honesty than if you clumsily struggled through it. Honesty is still the best policy and the raise will take care of itself!

A Future Bride
Dear Bride: No wedding is complete without music, dancing, toasting and a few inherited critics (commonly called relatives). You can't please them all... so why try. Please yourself. It's your day. Good luck!

MODERN GAS RANGES FEATURE MANY NEW TIME-SAVING IDEAS

Infra-red broiling, an oven with brains, and a wall-hung eye-level oven and broiler are all prime examples of new features developed for today's modern gas ranges.

Gas ranges with these and many other automatic, time-saving innovations are available now. Special prices and liberal trade-in allowances on used ranges are being offered during a special campaign designed to acquaint the home-maker with the advantages of a modern range. This campaign is being conducted by gas range dealers and Lone Star Gas Company during April and May.

The secret of the infra-red gas broiler lies in the special burner, which is considered revolutionary in both appearance and application. The infra-red ray emitted scientifically represents the maximum heat output in the infra-red spectrum. This entirely new development represents literally years of gas industry research and development and is now an integral feature of many new gas ranges.

The "oven-with-a-brain" features a remarkable new oven control system which gives full temperature control down to 40 degrees. Tests show this is the ideal temperature for keeping food warm without continued cooking. A dinner may possibly be delayed for of a conventional free-standing range.

These new innovations are but a few of the progressive developments achieved by gas range manufacturers. They are continually experimenting with original and sometimes startling ideas which give the modern homemaker tomorrow's gas range today.

WE ARE CHALLENGED: EARN SURVIVAL OR LOSE IT

The challenge is as old as time and as urgent as tomorrow's headlines. Peace or War? What can I do about it?

Beneath the shadow of super-bombs, caught in the clash of super-powers, the individual most often feels frustrated, insignificant. He is a grain of sand in history's hour-glass. The sand moves, time runs out, he is left helpless, impotent.

Or is he? Are any of us so imprisoned by our fate?

Only if we default. Only if we leave our fate to others: governments, statesmen, scientists, committees, institutions. Only if we do not care enough, or know enough, to realize that these are valuable only as instruments of the public will. Only if we fail to see that freedom is not a gift, or peace the absence of war, and that neither is the responsibility of the few.

Freedom and peace are each a task, hard and demanding of all. They are especially demanding of a democracy because it is the exceptional society. It is ever under exceptional attack from those who would deny man's freedom by war or any means.

To survive, a democracy must prove that it deserves to survive. Individuals must prove it, as they have in the past. Individuals have changed history and altered whole societies. Individual ideas have inspired the greatest sagas in the story of man. The problems of peace and war, of disarmament and survival, may loom as large as a mushroom cloud but they are smaller than an individual idea. The right idea triggers the mightier explosion.

Support for such ideas must come from you. You as a working member of a working Democracy are not insignificant but all-powerful. What you think, what you do, how much you care — these decide. Not only between peace and war. But also the problems of this twilight world of neither peace nor war. The problems of our free society that demand exceptional attention today.

Give them your attention today. Begin by reading the new Report of the President's Commission on National Goals. It draws guidelines for the nation during the critical decade ahead. It maps the ways in which you can exert your personal power and influence: at home, at work, with your family, neighbors, friends.

Both President Eisenhower and President Kennedy urge you to think about and act upon this new Report. Make our national goals your personal goals. Get a copy of the Report, entitled "Goals for Americans" at your bookstore in either hardcover or $1 paperback. Or send for the free digest version below. Know the challenges. Know how to meet them. The knowledge gives you power to shape your own future and the nation's fate. They are one and the same.

FREEDOM IS NOT A GIFT BUT A TASK.

FREE DIGEST of the Report of the President's Commission on National Goals. Write: "Goals," Box 1776, N. Y. 17, N. Y.

Litter tossed on Texas highways and roadsides has to be hand-picked. No machine can do this chore. Last year the clean-up and mowing bill for 57,500 maintained miles of Texas highways totaled more than $7,000,000.

plains: "We could do our mowing job so much quicker and save money if we didn't have to pick up all the cans, bottles, and litter before we start. A heap of litter hidden in the grass can wreck an expensive machine or automobile. Cutting grass is more than just trying to keep a neat highway yard. Mowing reduces fire hazard and prevents spreading of weed seed to nearby farms. Tall grass and brush can also distort sight distances and result in expensive and tragic automobile smashups.

"Take a count of the litter objects you see the next time you are on the road. Even though we have regular maintenance crews making periodic litter pickups, that busy litterbug is still way ahead of us. Help us out. Be a 'neatnik.' Litter. Don't throw it; stow it—till you get to a proper disposal unit."

A news picture recently showed the dictator of a communist-leaning country riding in an American automobile. The accompanying article said the ruler owned five cars of the same brand.

The automobile shown has been advertised consistently in newspapers for nearly a half-century. This advertising has always been on quality. Like many other American advertisers the automobile company has always argued that a smart buyer pays more for a better product.

Hence, the product of the company attained an unequalled worldwide prestige, and the communist leader shows-off in an American automobile rather than a Russian model.

This example seems to refute the idea that advertising creates waste and causes the consumption of inferior products.

Competitive advertising leads to a constant attempt by manufacturers to produce better quality products. Thus, American products still retain prime prestige in the markets of the world.

On the retail level, advertising works in the same way to raise the quality of consumption. Even the great low price chains -- Krogers, Sears, A & P have long ago given up emphasis on price in favor of quality.

The small retailer, who has always depended on quality in goods and services to retain his position, may find encouragement in the fact that his advertising can still be competitive.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT STARTS NEW ANTI-LITTER CAMPAIGN

AUSTIN.—The Texas Highway Department today launched a new slogan in its anti-litter campaign: "Be a neatnik, not a litterbug."

This plea comes from Texas Highway Department maintenance crews all over the state as they haul mountains of cans, bottles, paper, decaying food, and other litter from Texas highway right of ways.

"Spring houseclean our Texas highways all year long by fighting that urge to toss litter from your car," they recommend.

Throwing a litter on highways and roadsides is prohibited by law. Last year 281 cases against litter-throwing were completed in Texas courts. Of this number, 269 were found guilty and were fined or punished by other means.

Highway maintenance men point out that litter is local for the main part, coming from resident litterbugs and not from out-of-staters or from phantom travelers from "up the road." Surveys reveal that the litterbug is a local person, possibly a civic-minded citizen in all other phases of his life, but he fails to see the multiplication factor when he tosses out an empty cigarette package, wad of paper, or soft-drink bottle. He would not toss these objects down in his own yard, or in a friend's; but he will thoughtlessly take over the highway as his own private trashbasket.

Other evidence of the "resident litterbug" is sometimes a can-and-bottle trail. Maintenance foreman report that the biggest dead-soldier tossouts are about a drink away (by car) from the nearest local emporium. Cost of removal has been estimated at one-half cent per can. Maintenance crews join poet Richard Armour in his hurry-up order to science for an edible beer can.

Maintenance men point out: No machine can pick up litter. It has to be hand-picked. That makes it an expensive operation. Last year the clean-up and mowing bill for 57,500 maintained miles of Texas highways totaled more than $7,000,000. This included picking up, hauling, and unloading rubbish. Another chore for maintenance men is removal of dead animals, removal of rocks and rock piles. Wrecked cars must be hauled off. Advertising signs in the right of way must be taken down. Maintenance crews are also responsible for mowing the grass, removing brush, and keeping vegetation from the highway markers and guard posts.

TELEPHONE TALK

by Don Fyffe, Manager

This face staring out at you from the top of this column belongs to me, Don Fyffe. I'm the new telephone company manager here in Hamlin. As most of you know, I succeeded Gene Adkisson who was promoted to our Borger office. I hope you'll excuse me for talking about myself, but, since this is a one-sided discussion guess I'll have to do most of the talking until I can meet you in person. I have been transferred here from Lubbock. My telephone career began in 1949 in Abilene just after I graduated from TCU. Of course, I could tell you about all of the towns I've served in—but I think I'll use the remaining space to say I'm looking forward to meeting you as soon as I can.

TELEPHONES OF THE FUTURE

The other day I was having lunch with some friends and we got to talking about how much the telephone has changed in the last few years. We talked about the development of color phones, wall phones and the latest one -- the Princess, the first compact phone.

This conversation reminded me of some of the ideas for new kinds of telephones and communications services we're working on now. Some of these ideas will never leave the drawing board. Others will fall by the wayside during the test stage. And some, of course, will be successful — and will eventually be available for your use.

For instance, there's the "dial-in-hand" phone. It has the dial in the receiver. You lift the receiver, hold it in your hand, and dial. The dial lights up when you lift the receiver, too.

Or, how about a picturephone? This telephone of the future will transmit pictures as well as sound, so people will be able to see each other as they talk on the phone. The picturephone has been successfully tested, but it will be quite a while before it is available for widespread public use.

But here's a new phone you may have in the not-too-distant future. It's a small new wall phone called the Slimphone. The Slimphone is trim, not much wider than a Princess phone. It should come in handy for the kitchen and other rooms because it doesn't take up much space.

There are just a few — a sampling — of new kinds of telephones and telephone services we're working on for the future. But even today we enjoy telephone services most of us never dreamed possible just 10 years ago.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Mystery Farm Owned by Sellers

Last week's "mystery farm" was the 158 acre farm, located east of Hamlin, owned by Cecil Sellers and operated by Roy Cooper.

Charlie and Cecil Sellers purchased the place from M. L. Haught in 1950 and later, in 1959, Cecil bought Charlie's interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and their three boys live in the house which is now separated from the barns by the new Stamford Highway which was built about 2 years ago. The new water line from Paint Creek also crosses the property.

'ONE HUNDRED AND ONE DALMATIANS' COMING HERE

Nothing quite like Walt Disney's feature-length comedy-romance, "One Hundred and One Dalmations," has ever appeared on the theatrical screen before. First of all it is cartoon—Disney style—yet quite unlike any cartoon, whether feature or short, Disney has ever done before. It veers sharply from the classical mold he has generally held to and assumes a sharp sophistication representing quite a new departure for the Wizard of Burbank.

Basically, the story is about dogs and their human pets, which is nothing new for Disney. He managed this piece of legerdemain in "Lady and the Tramp," for instance. But in "Dalmations" he and his writer-artists have achieved real sophistication with the humor, as represented in the voice of the "narrator," a decided upper-class English accent.

The voice is presented over the film as that of Pongo, male canine lead, a Dalmation with imagination. Bored with the bachelor life he and his human pet Roger Radcliff, are living just off Regents Park, he sets out on a hunt for beauty, both canine and human, that results in a pair of marriages for himself and Roger, plus a litter of fifteen puppies in quick order for Pongo.

The story that follows is one of the funniest, even one of the most dramatic, to come from the Disney Studios. It involves a nationwide hunt via the eerie "Twilight Bark" and easily the best motor chase in the annals of cartooning.

Walt Disney himself produced. Overall animation direction was devised among three of his veteran artists.

The excellent art direction and production design was done by Ken Anderson while Bill Peet, humorist and storyman par excellence, adapted the splendid screen story from a book by the English authoress, Dodie Smith.

Both Peet and Tom Oreb were responsible for a wonderful sort of character styling that is brand new to cartooning.
